

Introduction

Cheryl DeWolfe, of Cheryl's Creative Miscellany, has been crafting since she was very small. If you stop by her home in Victoria, BC, you are as likely to find her painting as beading, sewing, knitting, drawing, or creating a new collage. One thing you won't likely see, however, is a pattern. Cheryl prefers to craft free-hand using whatever materials are on hand. The castoff clothing and other scraps she incorporates into her creations ensures that no two are ever identical.

Despite the range of mediums, Cheryl keeps coming back to the same themes: monsters, aliens, and robots. She's also fond of all things creepy and anything involving coffee. As part of Etsy's Monster Street Team, Cheryl has been pulling monsters out of dark corners and into the light. Her Huggitz monsters are more goofy than scary and they only go bump in the night when they trip on other toys and her Little Sock Monsters are just looking for a bright little corner where they can curl up and make people smile.

Cheryl is a huge fan of finger puppets and loves to create characters you don't find everywhere else. Her stock includes some basic animals, monsters and aliens but you'll also find devils, angels, Cthulhu, and Mister Bones, a dapper little skull-faced fella.

Her latest creative obsession is ACEOs (Art Cards, Editions and Originals) -- little 2.5x3.5 inch collectible artworks based on her plush and puppet creations. All of Cheryl's ACEOs are original, one-of-a-kind pieces.

For more information about Cheryl's Creative Miscellany, please visit www.creativemiscellany.info or her Etsy store at victriviaqueen.etsy.com. You can also reach her by email at triviaqueen@gmail.com.